Initial build notes

Creative Director: Analise Black
Designer: Angela Liu

- Continue working on adding the the different planet features to the specific pages

- If possible, add the star background to the lower edges of the page that appear when a user scrolls down

- Suggested to enlarge the name of each planet/use the same font as the home page font when the user is scrolling through the different planets

- Suggested to change font of the body text to a more legible/less stylistic font

- Continue to use content from NASA website to populate the information for each individual page, minimal content with an emphasis on the visual effect

- Horizontal scrolling nav bar is preferred, but, if it proves too difficult to implement, the vertical scrolling nav bar is also good!
